The enclosures on Koch and Wolfson may be of no interest to you. I send them in part for information and in part as an explanation of what dominated me the night from character [illegible] approach and what I do and how it comes out on paper, the subjects of which I do not [illegible]. It is quite wearing and wearying. Koch's letter was so long getting postmarked we are both [illegible]. It was not postmarked until it was too late to communicate with him even by phone. Then [illegible] exceptional Friday. Knowing my schedule for the Florida trip he was at the airport, parked and looking for me, long before his normal awakening. We then discussed Koch (not only him) and without his having read my letter, which I then gave him, he expressed general and basic agreement. His purpose was for me to have the original certified copies of the incorporation and dissolution of the Cadet/Hunt/Dougl "New Majority" operation. I never had a chance to use these.) He had not written Koch at his father's in W. Va. Wednesday as I'd thought when he asked me for the address. He was to have phoned there Friday night when Koch was to have been there with his girl friend or wife. (He had not told me which.) He has agreed to demand that Koch immediately ask all four to whom he has made submissions to withdraw them. My view is that it may not be possible and Koch has so arranged it. I do not agree that this is a subject any paper or magazine would automatically reject. Lesar also agrees that at the moment the Koch use as reflected in the draft could be of considerable help to Nixon/Ford because of the timing, which you will note I was aware of before the newest reporting. Lesar was to have been out of town yesterday and today so I have no knowledge of their conversation. Lesar was particularly shocked by the gross Koch misrepresentation of their conversation (I wondered why Koch had phoned them when he did not when I earlier suggested it) and by the admission of not the single Nation but four. He is also shocked by the inherent dishonesty of Koch's limiting his questions to a legal basis (which does exist but is not really get to the root....He also is in accord with the letter I had written Ray (civil suits) of which I think I sent you a copy. He was mailing it at the airport. Best, HW 9/15/74
